THE CATHOLIC EDUCATED

MAN . . .
THE ULTIMATE GOAL

The task of educating men in today's society is a great one. It is especially difficult for the faculty of Georgetown Prep, since they attempt to bring us to a certain goal, to mold us into a certain type of person. When we have reached this goal, the whole school can and should take pride in its making of an educated Catholic man.

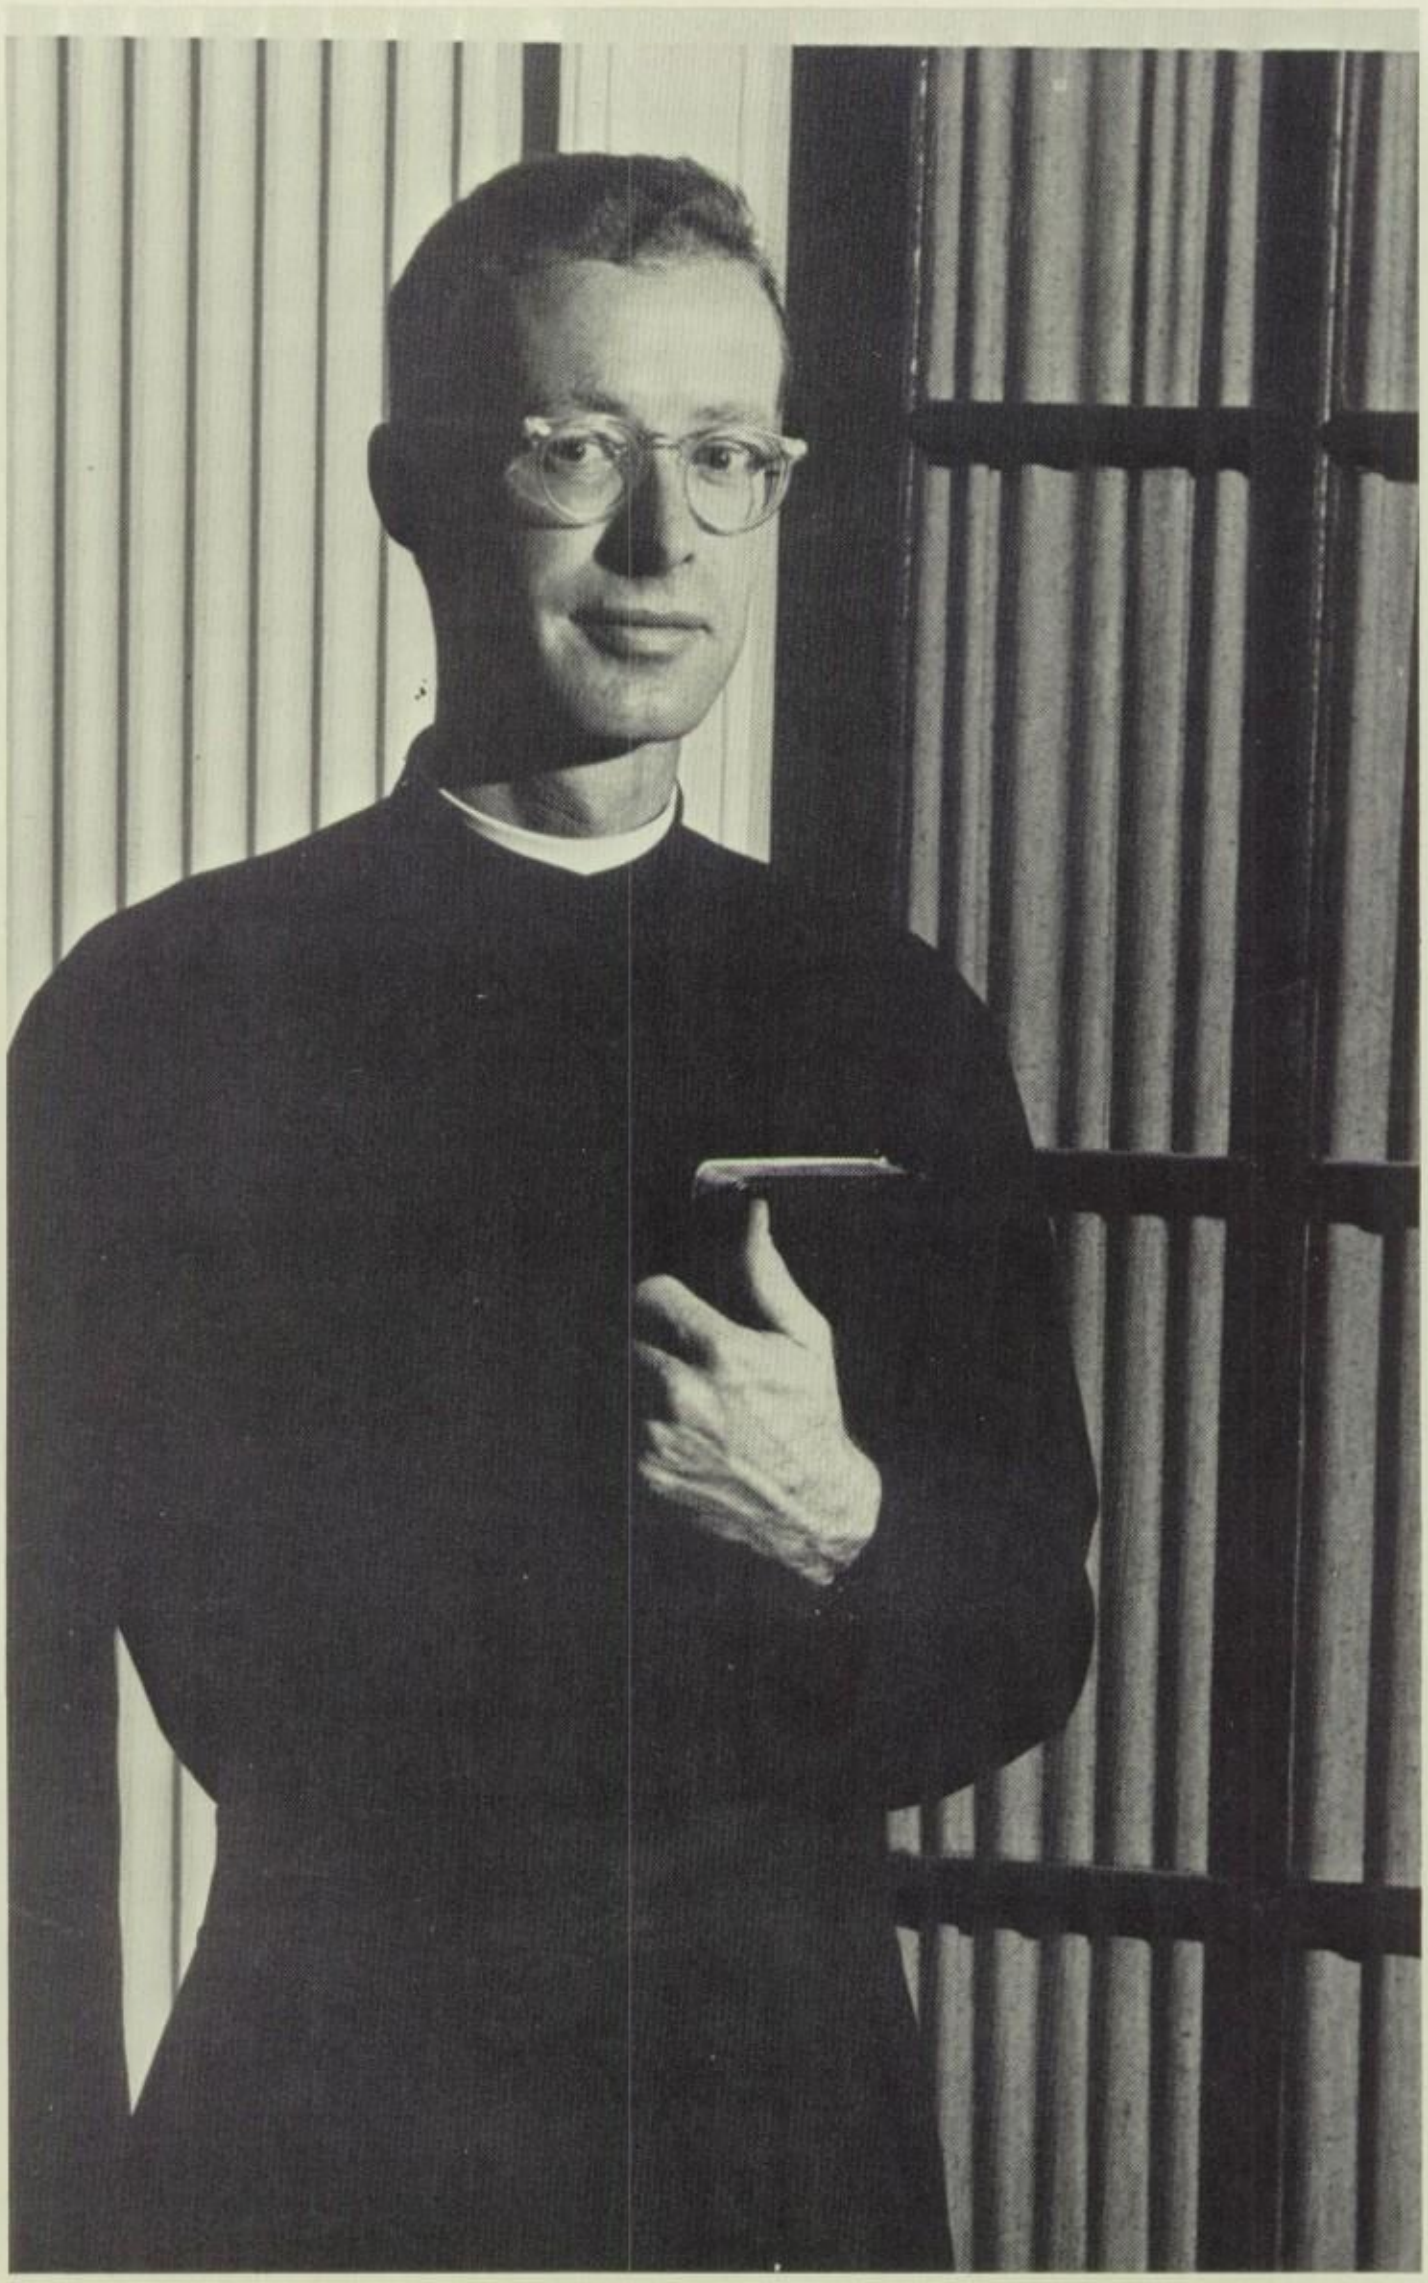
The means which the school uses to guide us to that goal are many. The most important part of the goal, that of producing a Catholic man, is accomplished by student retreats, student counseling, student Masses, and by the close relationship with the group of devout Catholic men who constitute our faculty.

The next division of the goal which is specified in the word educated takes up most of the students' time. A rigorous course of studies, embodying the principles of education set down by St. Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the society of Jesus, is prescribed for every student. Through the courses in languages and science, the student is trained to think logically; through work in his own language, he is trained to speak and write effectively. Thus, a student who successfully completes the curriculum must indeed be considered educated.

To complete this task that of making the total educated Catholic man out of the boy, a comprehensive program of athletics and extra-curricular activities is undertaken.

But, as in all efforts of this type, the whole is greater than the sum of the parts. It is the dynamic interplay of faith and intellect that effects the desired end and not merely the compartments of religion, studies and extra-curriculars. All focus on the development of the body and soul into the integrated Catholic intellectual, which Society needs, more than ever, today.

So it can certainly be said of every student who has been educated here at Georgetown Prep, that he is an educated, Catholic man. The fact that this can be said is the highest praise the faculty could receive.



Reverend D. Bradley Murray, S.J.

THE SENIORS SALUTE

It is rare that a school has on its faculty a teacher who has lived the life of a student as well as that of a teacher on the campus. But Georgetown Prep is proud to have such a teacher, Father Murray. Father Murray was a student at Prep; he graduated in 1939. Ever since then, Father Murray has been sincerely and deeply interested in Georgetown Prep.

During our years here as students, Father Murray has become almost as familiar a sight to us as the buildings. From our first Freshman Math courses with him, we have come to know him well and appreciate his quiet humor. We have found him understanding and sympathetic, the true marks of a great teacher. He has taught us on the sport field as well as in the classroom. As coach of the seventh and eighth grade basketball team and as coach of the golf team he has instilled in us a sense of fair play and has had a great influence in the correct formation of our characters.

We have come to know Father Murray as a priest and counselor, a man, trusted and respected, as an experienced teacher, as a competent instructor in sports and as a loyal friend. As priest, he has offered many Masses for our intention, he has counseled us on our spiritual difficulties and he has been a regular confessor to many of us. We have always felt free to discuss any problems we may have had with him.

We, the class of 1962, dedicate our yearbook, to Father D. Bradley Murray, S.J., our teacher, counselor and friend.

"The most important part of the Goal, that of producing a Catholic Man, is accomplished by . . . And by the close relationship with the Group of Devout Catholic Men who constitute Our Faculty."

FACULTY

June, 1962

Gentlemen of Georgetown:

Let me congratulate you on this splendid pictorial history of your years at Georgetown Prep with its excellent theme, The Catholic Educated Man. In later years I know you will re-read these pages. I hope you will reflect, meditatively and critically, on what it means to be a Catholic educated gentleman, a graduate of Georgetown Prep.

One of the most fashionable words in contemporary life is the simple noun "image". Thus we are presented with the image of the typical consumer, the representative business or professional man and so ad infinitum. What is the image of the Catholic educated man?

You know the answer to this question from your Georgetown Prep training. The Catholic educated man has perspective because he understands what the Incarnation of the God-man did to our human history and what the Church, His prolongation in that history, is doing to our present time. The meaning of Bethlehem and Calvary is renewed, over and over again, because their central Personage, Jesus Christ, lives on in His Church.

From this perspective, our proper identification comes clear. For the Church is not a denomination, nor a cult, nor a private club for pious people. It is Christ Himself. We get new meaning, added stature from the flaming words of St. Paul "All things are yours, but you are Christ's and Christ is God's". The key is Christ.

Thence we came to appreciate each other. "For the Body is not one member, but many; and the eye cannot say to the head 'I do not need they help'." We discover that our independence is still important, but not as much as our inter-dependence. We are our brother's keeper, because Christ is the Brother of us all. This appreciation of "the others" is the beginning of real charity in our lives.

This is your profile of excellence, as you receive your diploma from Georgetown Prep. I know you will be true to this image in your personal, social and professional future. From my heart, God bless you.

Sincerely,

Michael F. Maher, S.J.

Reverend Joseph B. Doty, S.J.

Prefect of Studies

Father Joseph B. Doty has taken the place of Father Bernard J. Dooley, as Prefect of Studies here at Prep.

Father Joseph B. Doty was born and raised in Baltimore. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1945. From 1951 to 1954 he was an instructor of classical languages at Georgetown University. Before he come to Prep, Father Doty taught Latin, English and Religion at Loyola High School in Baltimore and then completed his studies at Auriesville, N. Y.

When Father came to Prep, his mission was to continue the work of raising the standards, already high, of Georgetown Prep. Right away he proved himself a qualified man, as he began consulting the seniors concerning their years after those at Georgetown. All the students call upon him regularly and he helps keep their ambitions at a high level.

The 1962 CUPOLA in behalf of the student body wishes to salute and cangratulate Father Doty on his job, well done, both as a Prefect of Studies and friend.

Language is the principal means man uses to convey his ideas and thoughts. It is the basis of all human relationships. Therefore, it is natural that the most important scholastic study is the study of languages. All languages have some kind of organization, and reading, speaking and writing in a particular tongue imparts to the student a sense of logic, and disciplines his mind by making him aware of subtle nuances of thought and change in grammatical form with changes in meaning. But by far the greatest advantage of being able to understand more than one language is the opening of a whole new vista of which the person has been previously unaware. It would be difficult for a person to achieve during his brief life span first-hand as much knowledge as can be obtained from even a short study of the writings of other people and civilizations. But it is not sufficient to read them in translation, for an indefinable something is always lost in the rendering of a piece of literature into another language since each language has its own history and determination.

At Georgetown Prep one of the most important subjects is English. It is the belief of the Jesuit fathers that the ability to express oneself both orally and in composition is the true mark of a learned man. With this abjective in mind English grammar is stressed especially in the lower forms. As the student enters the upper forms, the laws of English which he has already learned are employed in composition. In addition to composition, the student is given frequent opportunity to formulate a short talk and deliver it before his class. At first it is common to be nervous and shy, to stutter and make some mistakes, but through practice the trouble spots are worked out and the student has achieved a priceless goal, he can think and speak on his feet. To some people this might seem rather unimportant, but if you look at the leaders of our country it is evident that their powers of speech helped them greatly in achieving their respective positions in the world of leaders.

Mathematics

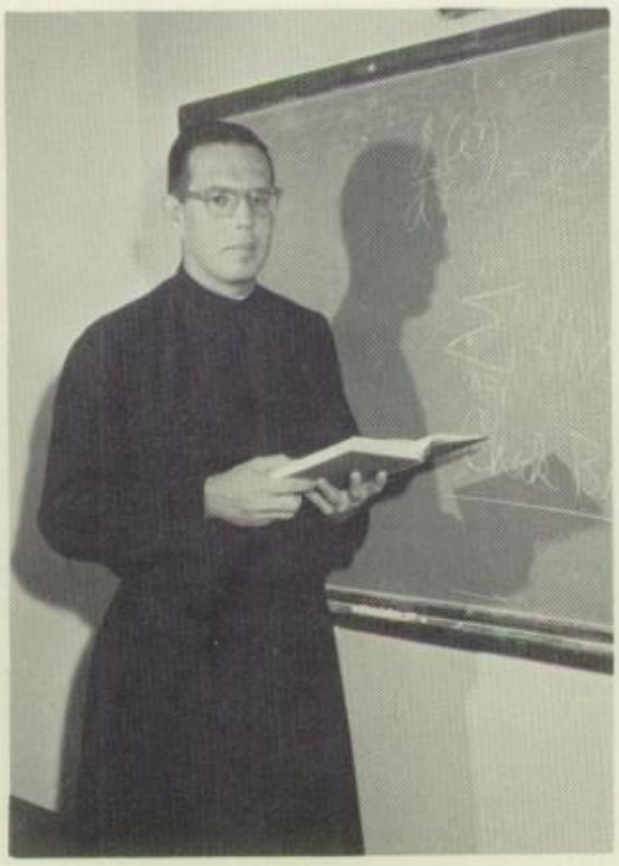
The Mathematics Courses at Georgetown Preparatory School are designed to cover a wide range so that each student can be given courses which are fitted to his mathematical aptitude. The mathematics classes are split up according to aptitudes at the middle of Freshman year. Those with above average talent are either put into a more advanced course or into the Advanced Curriculum.



Those in the regular math curriculum take elementary algebra Freshman year and advance into intermediate algebra during Sophomore year. Junior is spent mastering Plane Geometry. Senior year is devoted to studying Trigonometry and reviewing all the materials covered during the first three years of High School.

Those students who enter the X-Course cover all of the regular curriculum before the end of sophomore year. During the first part of Junior year, the advanced students take College Algebra and Analytical Geometry. At the middle of Junior year, they begin a course in Calculus which is equivalent to a three semester college course in Calculus. At Prep, the course is designed to fit the needs and the talents of the individual student in the field of mathematics.

The Science Department at Prep gives all the students the sampling of the various branches of science necessary to give the student an idea of what the subjects are like and to enable him to pursue them further in college if he wishes to. The Latin-Scientific Course completes a year of Biology, a year of Chemistry, and a year of Physics. The Greek-Honors Course masters a year of Physics. The Advanced Curriculum gets a semester of Physics and a year of college-level organic and inorganic Chemistry. The excellent lab facilities and the experienced teaching staff, combined with the ample opportunities for study and private help makes this one of the most interesting of the facets of the courses offered at Prep.

Fellow Students,

This year Georgetown has made great strides in fields both athletic and scholastic. The graduating class has started a trend, an advance toward perfection, which we hope will increase in the coming years. This Senior leadership was first shown during the football season when Seniors Dick Williams and Hugh Collins, co-captains of the team, led the squad with a new fire and spirit that resulted in a winning season for Georgetown. This spirit then continued to flourish and grow throughout the year.

In your student government this year many measures were proposed and adopted. We believe that the Senior members of the Council were predominately responsible for this success. It is a fact that for the first time in five years the platforms of the candidates for President of the Yard were not mere promises but were brought up and acted upon by the council.

We wish to single out Jim Harrison, 6A Class president and representative to the council, for his outstanding work this past year. Bob Wallace, Little Hoya, editor, is also to be thanked for the part he played this year as chairman of the Committee for Prospective Students. Although we can not, we would like to mention every Senior council member and enumerate his contributions. We do however thank each for his efforts.

Finally, I, personally, would like to thank you the students for bestowing upon me the great honor and privilege of being your president.

Sincerely,

Richard Hillenbrand

Richard D. Hillenbrand,
President of the Yard

The Sodality is probably the most important organization in the school, for it is the organization which deals with the spiritual life of the Prep students. Yet the Sodality is really more than just a club; the Sodality is a way of life founded on the principle "Ad Jesum Per Mariam." The Sodality aims to sanctify its members and lead others to Christ. To become a Sodalist a student must undergo a year of probation during which he must show a real desire to become a Sodalist and a zeal in performing the duties which all Sodalists must perform. Each Sodalist is obliged to attend daily Mass, say the Rosary every day, say the Morning Offering, and spend at least fifteen minutes each day meditating. Becoming a Sodalist is no easy job.

The Sodality also plans to bring others to Christ. It fulfills this end through its apostolic works. The Sodality often performs services to help the poor of the area.

The officers of the Sodality, P. O'Donnell, W. Bray, F. Albertson, make plans for the next meeting with Fr. Paquet, S. J., moderator.

The Church always needs well trained, dedicated lay-men who can assist the Church hierarchy in their job of bringing Christ to the world. Never before has this need been more pressing than it is today. The Sodality is an organization which has provided these leaders in the past and is providing them today.

The consecration is the most important part of the Sodalist's career. This is when he consecrates himself to the motto of the Sodality.

APOSTLESHIP OF PRAYER

About five years ago Prep secured its charter membership in the League of The Sacred Heart. The first year the Student Counselor handled most of its business and enrollments. But in October of 1960 a group of Promoters were enlisted to help the enrollment and propagation. Now in 1962 the Promoters number 18 as compared to 7 in 1960. The student body has also grown and along with it the number of enrolled Associates. There is approximately 98% of the student body on the charter books. Even though the numbers seem large and enthusiastic there are some areas that must, and will be opened by the hard and outstanding work of future promoters.

The officers of the Apostleship of Prayer, J. Bolger and J. Winborne, discuss the outcome of the food drive with Rev. R. Paquet, S. J., the moderator.

ST. JOHN BERCHMAN'S SOCIETY

The Saint John Berchmans Society has as its patron a Jesuit saint, St. John Berchmans of Diest, Belgium. Though perhaps not the most important extra-curricular, it was the only one whose great popularity was proven by such a large number of members. More than half of the boarding students belonged to the "Altar Boy Society." These young men were willing to give up an extra half hour or hour of sleep to go to the Altar of God. There was a desire among them all to get as close to Him as possible. They wanted to assist the priest in the Sacrifice of the Mass and become a vital part of it. Such zeal was the most noteworthy aspect of the Saint John Berchmans Society. It was truly a noble undertaking of the Prep students. Mr. Leigh Fuller, S. J., was the moderator of the Society.

Every Sunday ten altar boys serve weekly Benediction.

Brother Oswald, S.J., leads the choral group in a beautiful medley of tunes. L. to R., R. Hinst, R. Hubert, A. Poole, D. Perkins, C. Dodd.

CHOIR

At the beginning of this year it was decided that there should be no need of a choir since the entire student body would sing the liturgy at Benedictions and the other religious functions. Later it was made known that it would be necessary to form a special choir to represent Georgetown on the feast of "Christ the King" on the grounds of the Washington monument. This choir along with choirs from all the Catholic schools in the Washington area were to gather to sing Christ's praise at the ceremonies for His feast day. Br. Oswald S. J. once again resumed his job as instructor and moderator of the choir. The members for this choir were chosen from the boarding students and it turned out to be a success due to the efforts of Br. Oswald S. J.

M. Schlingermann, C. Dodd and D. Perkins, president, go over the music with Brother Oswald, S.J.

CUPOLA

The editors in chief, Donald Dean Perkins and J. P. Garnett Lehmann and Mr. E. Cavey, S. J., the moderator, smile with satisfaction at the end of a job, well done.

A yearbook is a record, a tangible something which will remind the grown man of his high school days. Every face will be a memory of an experience. This is the primary aim of any yearbook that is to be a satisfactory memoire, enveloping every aspect of the school.

The 1962 CUPOLA however was not satisfied with just this aim. This goal was set before us. However we also decided to make the book a "thing of beauty" for the eyes. We strove for art, this was our means for seeking this primary aim and interest mingled with originality was our secondary aim. These ends we have fought all year to reach. Mr. Edward Cavey, S. J., along with Donald Perkins and J. P. Lehmann, the editors in chief, Bernard Lloyd, layout editor and Michael McAdams, sports editor, often spent many an afternoon on a single picture or page in order that it appear fresh and original.

If these aims have been achieved, your acknowledgement will be the greatest reward and honor we could possibly receive and with this as Horace would say, "sublimi feriam sidera vertice."

Mr. L. Fuller, S. J., business moderator advises Michael McAdams, Sports Editor, while V. Oltremare listens.

The business staff with Christopher Dodd as manager, discuss the outcome of the class ad drive.

Jim Higgins gets a unanimous if not serious approval of his plan from the other members of the editorial staff, T. Powell, B. Crotty, R. Hillenbrand, R. Colon, M. Schlingermann, C. McManus.

The artists take a break after a long afternoon of work, the Michaelangelos are A. Poole, P. Lee, B. Lee, F. Fazzari, J. Taney.

BLUE AND GRAY

J. P. Lehmann and Eugene Gillespie discuss the plans for the next issue with W. Turner, A. Poole, A. Neill and C. McManus.

In past years, The Blue and Gray had been more of a school newspaper than a literary magazine, but lately has relinquished this function to the newly-revived Little Hoya. It also has earned the reputation of being one of the finest literary magazines in the country.

This year The Blue and Gray has shown itself to be a magazine of exceptional quality. Its goal of promoting literary endeavor and excellence among the Prep students has resulted in a high school publication that is sure to gain further recognition as being among the best in its field.

The magazine has placed emphasis on three literary areas: the short story, the essay, and poetry. It has also stressed excellence in its art and illustrations. It has even held a short story contest and a poetry contest to promote a more widespread interest in writing.

The editors, l. to r. B. Lee, art editor, K. Keane, business staff, F. King, editor in chief and Mr. G. M. McCrossin, S. J., who are responsible for the rejuvenation and artistic improvement of the magazines of the school year 1961-1962.

A completely new magazine, The Blue and Gray came off the press and caused quite a stir. Everyone could see immediately that it was a superior magazine. The short stories were interesting, the poetry excellent, the essays entertaining, and the art work exceptional. Even the cover had been changed, the standard one employed since 1958 discarded for a more modern and attractive front.

The editor-in-chief of The Blue and Gray was Frederick J. King, Jr. He was assisted by art editor Blair Lee IV and managing editor William J. Bray, Jr.

Blair Lee points out to the other artists, J. Taney, P. Lee, A. Poole, how he fashionably drew the "Coon."

THE LITTLE HOYA

The big three of the Little Hoya, John Thompson, assistant editor, Robert Wallace, editor in chief, and Mr. McCrossin, S. J., moderator discuss their past issue.

One of the most integral and necessary facets of student life is a monthly newspaper. Unfortunately, in previous years, the school paper was irradic in production and inferior in quality. Now for the first time in several years The Little Hoya published an issue once a month throughout the second half of the school year.

The editor in chief, Robert Wallace, together with the assistant editors, John Thompson and Charles Fenwick, produced a paper that gave the Prep student an interesting and informative account of school life in both academic and intellectual fields. At the same time, Thomas Kirchner, the sports editor, along with his staff, gave a copious account of Prep's athletic achievements.

THE HONOR SOCIETY

Every student should strive to belong to the Honor Society

In order to be a member of the Honor Society, a student has to have an excellent scholastic record and must be a leader in extra-curricular activities. It is evident that only the cream of the crop of the students can be members of this Society.

Above are three members, Coleman Bird, James Harrison and Christopher McManus, with Fr. Maher and Fr. Doty. These are probably the most outstanding of the members because of their constant reception of advanced testimonials and honor cards. Their eloquence, and ability in debating are the reasons for the debating team's successful season.

There are many other students who deserve mention, but it is not our objective in this article to give a list of names, rather only to give a brief description of the significance of the society.

Five points are required in studies. First honors counts as two points, second as one and honorable mention as a half. Five points are also necessary in extra curriculars, one credit per year unless the candidate was in a particular office, and then he receives two points.

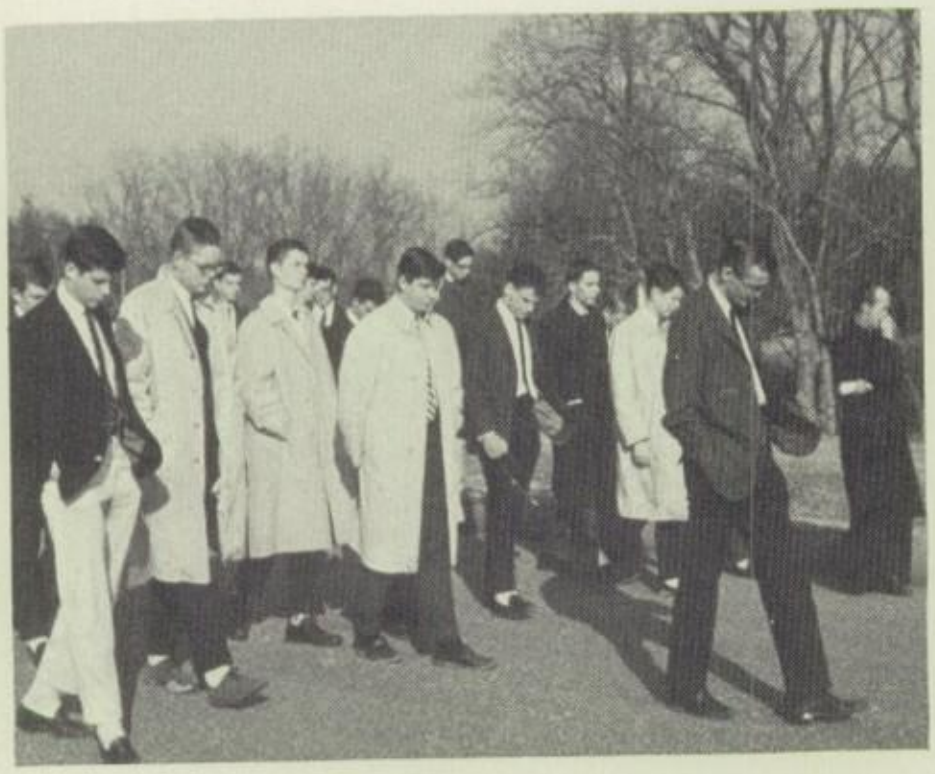
SENIOR RETREAT

Prayer—Adoration of the Holy Eucharist

Meditations presented by Father Burke, S.J., our Retreat Master.

This Senior Closed Retreat was a success because of three important factors: the cooperation and willingness of every individual senior, the eloquence and versatility of our Retreat Master, Reverend Father Thomas A.

The Rosary, while walking on the grounds



Offering up of oneself in the sacrifice of the Mass.

Serious considerations

Burke, S. J., and the peaceful atmosphere of the environments, especially conducive to prayer and meditation.

We feel that these were very important in helping us make some decisions which every senior, graduating from high school has to make.

A happy ending, a renewed spirit.

SENIOR DEBATING

The national topic for debate among highschools this year was "Federal Aid to Education."

Prep's debating teams have traditionally been in top spots in its league and again this year the senior team has upheld its rank despite such a difficult topic. Currently in the Washington Catholic Forensic League, Prep has one team in first place and one team in second place. George Glober is tied for best speaker in the league. Early in the season Prep's team of James Harrison and George Glober ranked 10th out of 100 schools at the Saint Johns College Invitational Tournament in New York.

Prep is anxiously looking forward to the coming invitational tournaments later in the season and the national finals in Miami. Under the experienced direction and generous support of Mr. Moddes debating has once again been one of the most successful activities at Prep.

George Glober presents the evidence, the answer to the problem is contained in that little piece of material.

JUNIOR DEBATING

Seated, L. to R. M. Arpaio, J. McSherry, D. Murphy, President, Mr. Jones, S. J. Standing, L. to R. S. Phelan, V. Orsinger, J. Milanese, B. Lebling, R. Dorment, and K. Felsen.

The Junior Debating Society is an organization formed exclusively of underclassmen. This society, as an entirely independent organization, serves to prepare the novice for the Senior Debating Team through a program of inter-school competition. In this latter respect it has given an adequate account of itself in the year's tournaments. It is through this type of competition that alert and logical thinking is developed. Through the mechanics of debate, polished speaking is acquired; through the various pressures of debate, executive leadership is inculcated in the debater. It is here that the seeds of future oratorical achievements are planted and nourished.

The moderator of the Junior Debating Team, Mr. L. Jones, has worked extremely hard throughout this past year advising and preparing his fresh and inexperienced team for the many tournaments in which they did so well. Next year many of the Junior stalwarts will prove to be the top-notch debaters on the Senior Team.

DRAMATICS

This year Georgetown Preparatory School's Dramatics Society had as its moderator and director Mr. Michael McCrossin, S.J. Its first presentation was the medieval morality play "Everyman." It was staged in a contemporary setting, and received praise for this new effect at the Washington Area One Act Play Festival. There it was judged to be excellent. Two weeks later the production placed third in the Maryland Province One Act Play Contest held in Washington. The cast was comprised of thirteen students, among them Mark Schlingerman as Everyman, Christopher Dodd in the role of The Messenger, Thomas Geoghagen as Death, and Eugene Gillespie as Good Deeds.

During the past year, the Society grew in scope and interest, and played a major part in the extra-curricular life of the school.

Everyman (M. Schlingerman) seeks help from E. Gillespie as he is about to be taken away by T. Geoghegan.

Due to private sessions with their moderator, Mr. McCrossin, S. J., Mark Schlingermann, Tom Geoghegan, Chris Dodd and Eugene Gillespie were a great success in their plays.

A realistic dress rehearsal in the movie room. The recognizable ones are Chris Dodd, seated on the stool, Mike McAdams in the back and Mark Schlingerman, the star of the performance of Everyman, leans on his British umbrella. Donald Cheatham is enjoying an afternoon drink and a good Havana cigar.

Mark Schlingerman seems to be very good at pleading, Eugene Gillespie however does not think so and turns away.

Sports are an asset to both the Catholic and the Man. The Catholic because fair play is instilled in the athlete and the tough practices and games make the Man out of the Boy.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

This year's football team, despite its somewhat mediocre record, 3-3-2, provided the Prep with a most thrilling season. The team was fired up for the season. So much so that they voted to start football camp a week earlier than last year. One of the reasons for their tremendous spirit was the addition of two very fine young coaches, Mr. James Fegan, head coach and Mr. Justin O'Neill, assistant coach.

The team was lead by co-captains, Hugh Collins and Dick Williams. Collins, a guard, was named to the All - Interstate Athletic Conference first team. Needless to say, he was the stalwart of the line. The line was big, fast, and powerful, one of our best in years. Tackles Blair Lee and Tom Kirchner were outstanding. Lee was also named to the All-IAC team. The third member of the team to be named to the all-IAC was backfield star Bob Abbo. Abbo saw double duty at both halfback and quarterback.

The season started off in grand style with a big victory over Peary. Bob Abbo was the hero. He scored three touchdowns, one a seventy-five yard punt return, and threw a six pointer to end Dick Williams.

Against Sidwell Friends, Prep went ahead in the first quarter when Abbo hit halfback Bob Wallace in the end zone. But Friends came back and scored two touchdowns. In the closing seconds Frankie Fenwick scored on a fifty yard pass play from Abbo but the try for the extra point failed and we lost a tough one.

After a heartbreaking loss to Saint Albans, Prep bounced with a 21-0 win over Bullis. One of the high points in the game was when Bob Wallace skirted around end and down the sideline on a brilliant eighty yard touchdown run, but the play was called back because of an infraction. Dick Hillenbrand, a scrappy guard, suffered a broken leg in the game and was not able to play for the rest of the season.

The homecoming game against St. Stephens ended in a tie. The spirit of the team was dampened by the falling rain. The only Prep touchdown was scored by sophomore fullback Bob Mahoney. Hugh Collins received the homecoming trophy for being the game's outstanding player.

The game with St. Anthony also ended in a tie. Quarterback Jack O'Malley, who was injured before the season began, performed well. The offense was clicking but the defense was ragged.

Prep came back with a well earned victory at St. James. Once again Abbo and Wallace provided the scoring punches. Joe Taney, tackle, and Fred King, end, were standouts on defense. The long ride to Hagerstown was well worth it for the Prep eleven.

The spirit was high for the final game with Landon. Few people will forget the fiery speeches delivered during that week, but Prep was shutout by the powerful Bears. "The spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak."

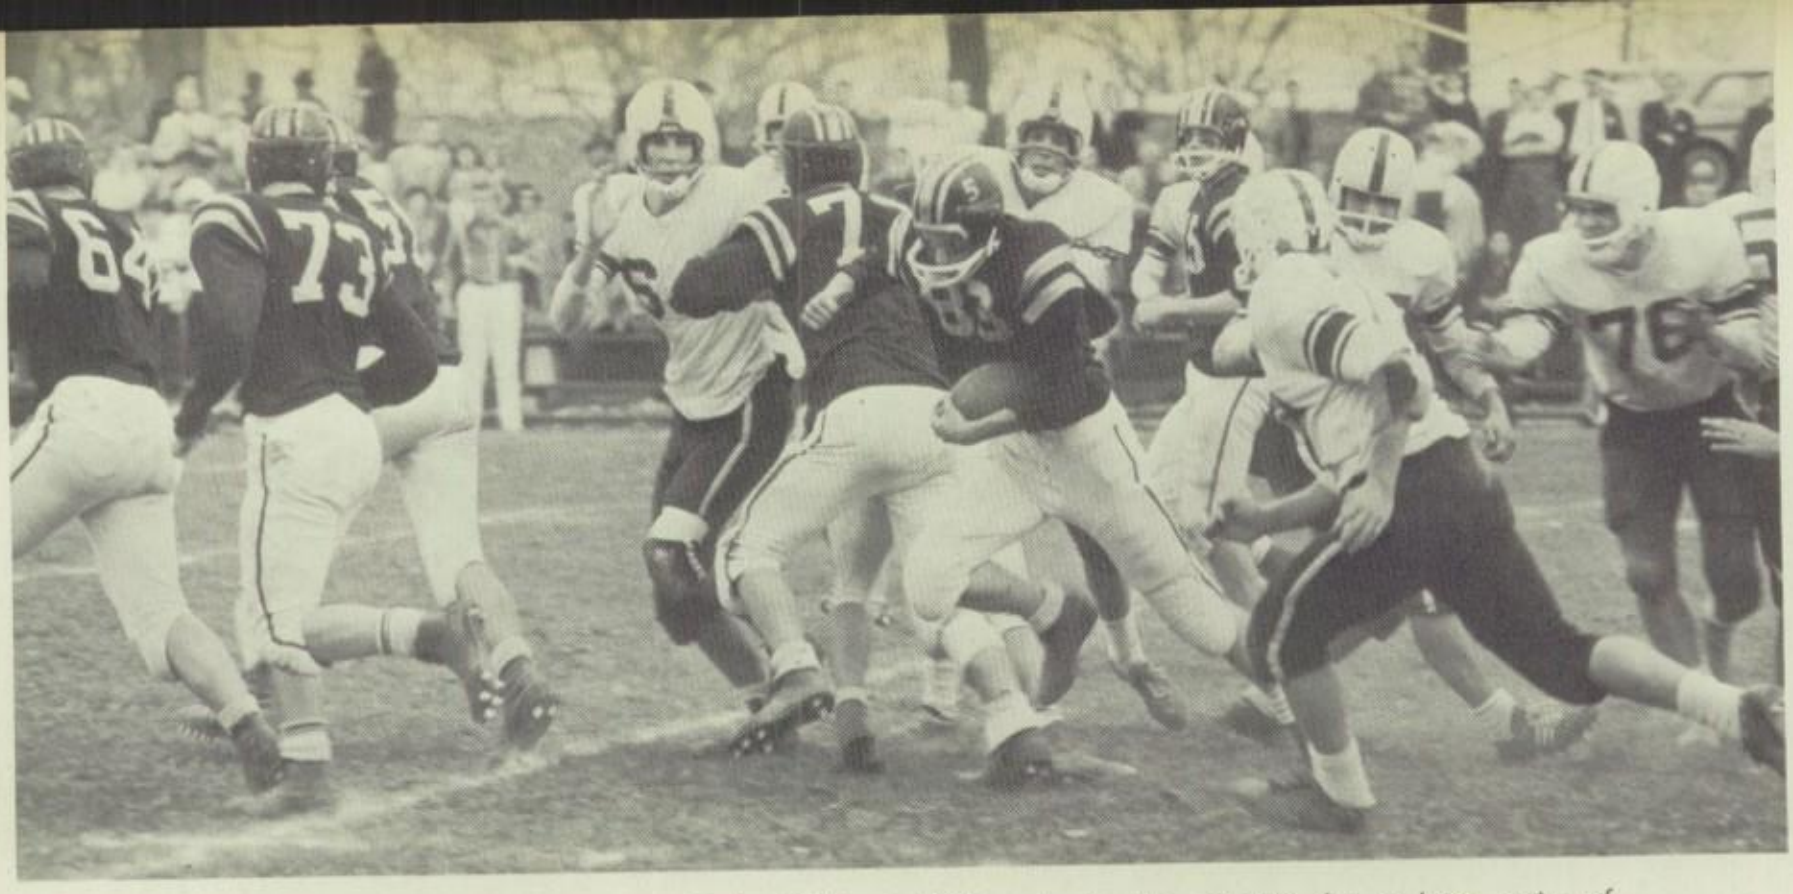
Sidwell Friends' kicker and ball are about to be crunched under the descending avalanche of fierce Georgetown linesmen.

In the "calm before the storm," the Prep squad crouches into a huddle prior to the decisive play which brought us within two points of Sidwell Friends just as the clock ran out.

Reminiscent of the four horsemen, the Prep backfield gallops off toward quarterback Bob Abbo who is preparing to make one of his well-known, deceptive handoffs.

After receiving handoff, Bob Mahoney, Prep's powerful fullback, crashes head on into an unfortunate St. James' tackler.

When those few extra yards are needed, fullback Bob Mahoney provides the punch as he plunges through the St. James line to pick up the first down.



After snagging a screen pass, Dick Williams (83) cuts to the outside for a long gain of yardage in the St. James game.

With O'Malley running interference, Bob Abbo, all I.A.C. quarterback, charges through a grudging Bullis line.

Elusive end, Dick Williams (co-captain) outmaneuvers aggressive defenseman to pull down a long pass in Peary's end zone.

At right, the Prep squad presents a picture of balance and power as they are poised in readiness for the attack.

Bob Abbo grapples for escaping opponent while Bob Wallace (41) charges in to deal the final blow.

Mr. Coupe speaks at the Father-Son Dinner.

FATHERS CLUB

The most important extra curricular position for the fathers and guardians of Georgetown Prep students is their membership in the Fathers' Club.

This organization works to further the Prep as an even better institution of learning for the students. But not only is academic learning fostered. The Fathers' Club over the past few years has been most necessary for the planning, construction, and maintenance of the Prep field house. Funds for this work were obtained in large part through the ingenuity and hard work of the fathers.

The students benefit both indirectly and directly from the Fathers' Club. Indirectly they receive the benefits of applied energy to complete a task, as in the case of the field house. Directly they profit from the social affairs at several times throughout the school year. Perhaps the best liked of these is the Christmas Banquet, which this year had to be held on two separate occasions, the attendance was so large. Another favorite day is the Sunday of the Father and Son Communion Breakfast during the Spring season. Also, there are two other social affairs held by the Fathers' Club, to which the students are not inivted. The first of these is the Mothers' Reception, at which the mothers of Prep students have a chance to meet and talk with other parents, and with the faculty members on a lighter occasion than the parent-teacher meetings. Secondly, every year the Fathers' Club has a highly successful fund raising effort. This is the Spring Gambol, which has become a tradition at Prep and where the parents have a chance to show their talents as well as to have fun.

It is good therefore to remember that the Prep students have an organization like the Fathers' Club behind them and their school.

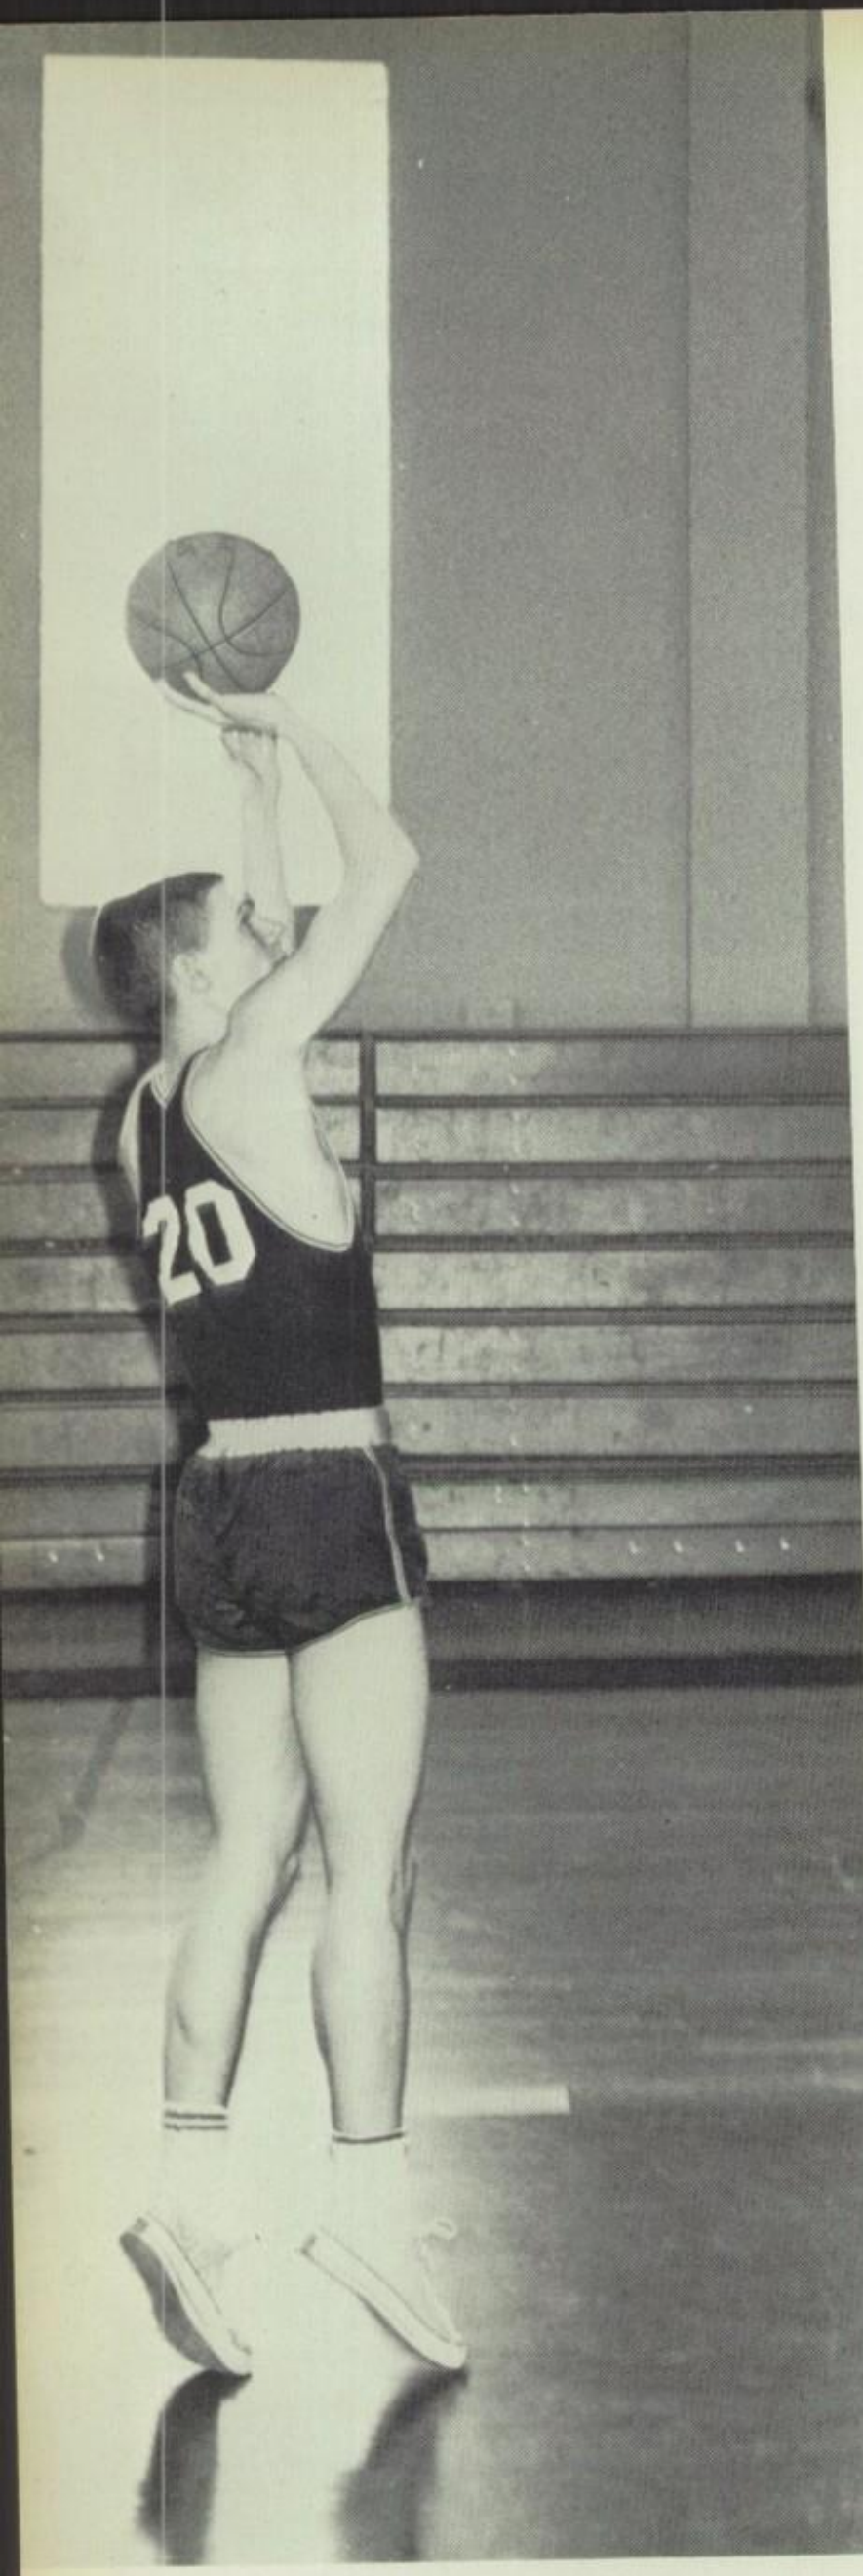
BASKETBALL

Williams drives in for a lay-up against Priory as Bergson and Collins move in for the rebound.



Senior, Dick Williams, co-captain, All I.A.C., Priory All Tourney Team and Catholic Metropolitan All-Star.

The start of this year's basketball season was marked by the return of four lettermen. As in the past, the team was handicapped with lack of height. The season opened at home with a powerful Catholic League contender, Mackin. Prep played a spirited game scoring 53 points but lost it by 18. As the season progressed the team gained momentum downing Priory, St. Albans and Sidwell Friends. During the entire season the Hoyas' only losses never amounted to more than an 8 point spread. For the first time in quite a few years Prep was not invited to the St. Stephen's Tournament. However, the Priory tournament was still remaining as Prep worked hard for the title. In the first game of the post-season tournament, the Hoyas were given quite a scare by Bullis but a 21 point second half performance by Dick Williams helped greatly in paving the way for the close 4 point victory that pushed the Hoyas into the semi-finals. Dick was high scorer with 25 points and was backed up by Junior, Joe DeCourcy who added 17 points. In the Semi-final round Prep faced the fast St. Anthony's team who were ranked number 12 in the city. It was a hard fought game for both teams but the Hoyas were unable to make up the deficit produced as the Tonies hit for an amazing 90% of their shots. Joe DeCourcy led in the scoring column with 25 while Dick Williams hit for 21 points.

Paul Bergson played a terrific game under the boards while Bobby Abbo did his usual outstanding job on defense. In the final game of the tournament Prep lost by a slim 3 point margin. Hugh Collins hit from the outside and Paul Bergson again grabbed a large percentage of the rebounds but this wasn't quite enough to overtake Priory whom the Hoyas had downed earlier in the season. Senior, Dick Williams and Junior, Joe DeCourcy were both placed on the Priory All-Tourney Team.

Outstanding defenseman, Bob Abbo, stretches to steal this rebound out of the hands of Priory player.

WRESTLING

This year wrestling, a new sport at Prep, offered a real challenge to the students. Wrestling is an exciting and highly competitive sport. In wrestling two opponents try to pin each other's shoulders to the mat. The wrestlers must be strong and agile, and should be in perfect physical condition. A wrestler uses almost every muscle in his body. This makes wrestling one of the most healthful sports, but it also demands skill and intelligence.

The team spent long hours after school with coach Attila Szanko learning the various holds used in the matches. The sport was all new to them, but before long the squad became competent wrestlers. To achieve the physical shape necessary for wrestling the team exercised long and hard and ate only the right foods. They soon learned that the very few minutes spent on the mat in competition become the longest time in the world.

Wrestling should be even more popular next year, and it promises to be one of the best-liked activities at Prep.

The big man on the wrestling team this year was big Edward (Zeus) Eiswirth, who shows his winning form by crashing an opponent to the mat.

Henry Urbano referees the match between Ray Hinst and Jan Seigel in the 115 lb. class.

That's using your head, Bob.

Early in December, when the Varsity Soccer season officially opened, the team gathered on the field for their first practice. Here the new coach and the players had their first opportunity to look one another over. From the team's point of view, their new coach, Mr. William Lauritzen, was the man they needed to lead them to avenge the one-sided losing record of the previous year. In the Coach's eyes, the team was relatively green; as a whole they were young, mostly sophomores and juniors, with only one experienced senior. Nevertheless, both the coach and the team were eager to prove themselves, and set about preparing for the first game.

Returning from a long Christmas vacation, the team kicked off its season on the wrong foot. In an entirely defensive game on a frozen and snow-covered field in freezing weather, the team bowed to a strong Sidwell Friends eleven. Determined to make up for this loss, Prep met St. Stephens at full strength and after a fast and ferocious game, broke a 2-2 tie with a goal late in the second overtime period, winning their first game in two years.

The season progressed, with practice and games in mud and snow and, luckily, only two games were canceled. Prep's spirit was tremendous, and although the record was not overly impressive, it showed promise of great years to come.

RIFLE TEAM

Under the competent supervision of Mister Leigh Fuller, S. J. the Prep rifle team has done exceptionally well this season. Earlier this year, they were hampered by the lack of experienced shooters. Th eproblem was quickly solved by recruiting and aptly training prospective marksmen. Then we were well on our way to city championship. We are very optimistic about the future. Although we lost to both the state and city champions, it was only by a narrow margin. We are confident that we will beat them by next year.

To stay in prime condition, the team has been spending more time on the line. This added practice has shown in past matches. The new members: J. Spalding and C. Timberlake, show great promise. Their scores rank with those of the team.

Though we lack publicity, the Prep rifle team has become one of the top teams in the school through our own efforts.

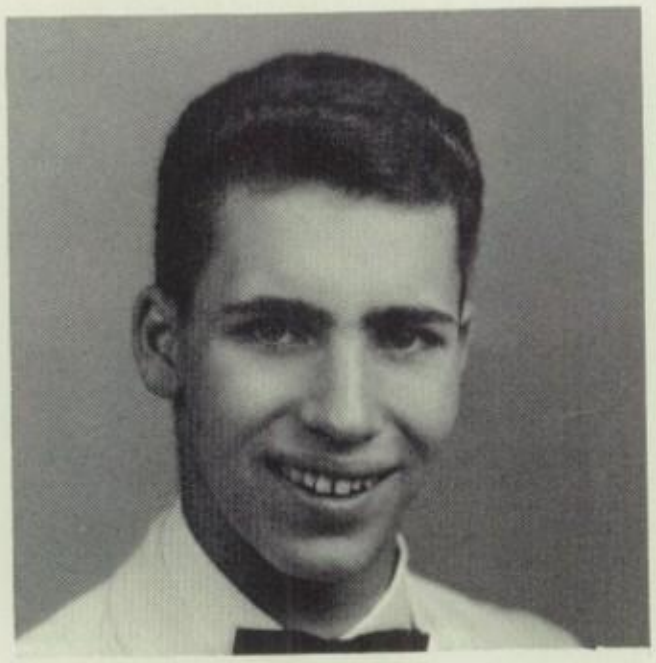
FROM THE EDITORS



A yearbook is a tangible record of one's high school days. Our aim was to encompass every facet of the school so that in the years to come, the students will have no trouble evoking past adventures. A yearbook offers the opportunity to relive those days which we will fondly remember. We also endeavored to inculcate an artistic style, so that this book might be pleasing to the eyes as well as to the emotions. We spent many hours looking over past yearbooks, attempting to derive original types and we also strove to create our own. We certainly hope that we have produced the effect we sought, and if we did, your acknowledgement will be the best possible appraisal.

Fortunately we had an excellent moderator in Mr. Edward Cavey, S. J. This is his third and last year of regency and his second year as moderator of the CUPOLA. Any success which may have been attained in these past two years is due in great part to his creative imagination, his ceaseless advice and his boundless work. Mr. Leigh Fuller, S.J. should be congratulated for his dexterity in handling the financial section.

There are also several members of the staff to be commended for their conrtibution to the yearbook. The most outstanding in this field is Mike McAdams, Sports Editor, who we feel did a laudible job on his section, we hope that you share our opinion. Jim Higgins and Brent Crotty often helped us out of a tough spot. Dick Hillenbrand kept us abreast of the student activities and was the author of several articles. Rick Feeney was our technical advisor and his advice and work proved invaluable. Chris Dodd, Business Manager, is to be thanked for the financial section.

Although the work may have been hard at times it was pleasant. We hope that you will enjoy this book as much as we have enjoyed putting it out for you.

Sincerely,

Donald D. Atkins

John Peter G. Lehmann
